

Certain frogs, lizards and snakes are equipped with trapdoors; that is some part of the body serves to close the hole in the ground where the animal takes refuge.

